Report on the Two-Day International Conference on Harmony for Sustainability: Exploring the Interplay Between Environment and Constitution.

Organized by the Centre for constitutional studies and Environmental studies

co-ordinators:-Jincy P.Babu,Aiswarya M U,Abhaya B.K

Date: October 27-28, 2023

Venue: Seminar Hall

Introduction:

The Two-Day International Conference on Harmony for Sustainability, which focused on exploring the interplay between the environment and the constitution, took place on the 27th and 28th of October 2023. The conference aimed to bring together scholars, researchers, legal experts, and environmentalists to discuss and deliberate on the critical relationship between environmental sustainability and constitutional principles.

Day 1 - October 27, 2023:

The first day of the conference was marked by a vibrant atmosphere with a total of 86 registrations. The attendees consisted of academicians, legal experts, environmentalists, and students. The day was dedicated to paper presentations and a stimulating panel discussion.

Panel Discussion:

The panel discussion, held in the morning, brought together distinguished experts in constitutional law and environmental sustainability. The Panelists were Dr.Sindhu Thulaseedharan (Associate Professor and Head of the Department, at Kerala University), Sasidharan(Former IFS officer), Adv Vishwajith Anand, High Court of Kerala, Ms.Veena Maruthoor(Environment Educator). Dr. Jayasankar K I (Professor and Head, of Central University of Kerala)was the moderator of the panel discussion. The panelists discussed the challenges and opportunities of harmonizing constitutional principles with environmental protection, highlighting the role of the judiciary, legislative bodies, and civil society in achieving this harmony. The audience actively participated in the discussion, posing thoughtful questions to the panelists.

Paper Presentations:

A total of 37 research papers were presented on a wide range of topics, all relating to the central theme of the conference. Of them, 14 presentations were held on the first day of the conference. The chairs were Manoj Krishna (Associate Professor, Mar Gregorios College of Law, Nalanchira) and Adv Vishwajith Anand. Papers were categorized into various themes, including Environmental Rights and Justice under Constitutional Law, Indigenous Rights, and Environmental Harmony. Each paper presentation was followed by a Q&A session, allowing for in-depth discussions and feedback.

Day 2 - October 28, 2023:

The second day of the conference continued to provide insightful discussions and networking opportunities for all participants. The day started with Paper Presentations chaired by Dr. Hameema M and Dr. Anju Rajan V (Assistant Professors, Govt. Law College, Thiruvananthapuram). Papers were categorized into various themes, including Balancing Environmental Regulation and Constitutional Governance, and Judicial Engagement in Environmental Conservation: Balancing Legal Interpretation and Environmental Safeguards.

The day ended with an address by Dr. Lia Raibal (University of Glasgow), a renowned constitutional expert, who emphasized the importance of constitutional provisions in achieving environmental harmony and sustainability, followed by a valedictory session chaired by Dr. Mohith C.S (Presiding Officer, Labour Court, Ernakulam).

Conclusion:

The Two-Day International Conference on Harmony for Sustainability successfully brought together experts, researchers, and enthusiasts passionate about the environment and constitutional law. It provided a platform for engaging discussions, knowledge sharing, and collaboration opportunities to promote environmental sustainability. The conference's outcomes, including the research papers and panel discussions, contribute significantly to the growing body of knowledge on the subject. It underscores the importance of constitutional principles in addressing environmental challenges and shaping the future of sustainable development.

We express our gratitude to all participants, speakers, and sponsors for their support and contributions to the conference's success. The insights gained during this event will undoubtedly play a crucial role in guiding future policies and actions to create a more harmonious and sustainable. The success of this conference reaffirms the commitment of the global community to environmental preservation and sustainable development.
